Image Retrieval

How would you design a search engine for images? You are free to mention anything you feel would be relevant, such as what information you would store, how you would query the engine and how you would match queries to stored images. You should mention the feasibility and limitations of your suggestions, but there is no need to go into overly specific implementation details (such as file formats).